

Greeting from Santa Fe! I'm here for 2 weeks for a class on site specific sculpture with Beverly Pepper. She's a powerful lady but giving us
 much of her hard won experience.
 I'm trying to get into a St. Fe gallery while here too. Site is becoming more of a national art center. Cheers! Benice

INTERIOR OF THE OLDEST CHURCH IN U.S.A.

SAN MIGUEL MISSION
 Santa Fe, New Mexico 87501

This interior view of the Oldest Church in U.S.A. (1610) shows the hand-carved wooden "reredos" or altar backdrop (1798), the three-hundred-year-old oval oil paintings, the Statue of St. Michael (central niche), which with La Conquistadora and an image of the Christ Child was given prominence at the official reenry of De Vargas into Santa Fe (1693), the wood-carved stations of the cross, and the paintings on buffalo hide and on deer skin (circa 1630).

The church has been in use for religious services, weddings, and christenings since it was built in 1610. The Christian Brothers are the owners of the San Miguel Mission. Members of the world-wide teaching order of Brothers welcome visitors and conduct short, free tours daily, from 8:30 to 11:30 A.M. and from 1:00 to 5:30 P.M.
